JM Jane Mackie

JM My name's Jane Mackie. I am based in Unilever Europe. I'm based up in the Northwest, so just outside Manchester and I'm the European quality director. I originally started working within probably more mainstream engineering so I worked for British Rail for a couple of years but quite quickly realised that the sort of hitting large bits of metal type engineering wasn't really for me and FMCG was a bit more attractive for a technical person and that's how I came into Unilever.
